SHE HAS SENT SEVEN SONS TO THE WAR

Mrs. William J. Tisdall, a widow of 1125 Garden street, Hoboken, that New Jersey headquarters of pro-German activity, may hold the record in that she has sent seven sons to the war. They are in the British, Canadian and American armies. They are: Henry William Tisdall, thirty-eight years old; John Tisdall, thirty-four; Mark A. Tisdall, thirty-two; William Tisdall, thirty; Edward Tisdall, twenty-eight; Victor Tisdall, twenty-five; and Travers Tisdall, twenty-three.

Henry Tisdall is now serving in the British army, Edward is with the Canadians, and Victor is in England with the Scots. Canadians. Mark is also a member of a British regiment. Travers is a member of Company A of the Eleventh Regiment of Engineers in the American army. John and William are also with the American forces.

COURT NOTES

Today was "Black Friday" for four or five malefactors who had entered pleas of guilty or been convicted this week of various infractions of the Pennsylvania statutes. Before he had disposed of the tough looking bunch of misfits which faced him at 11:30 Judge Bell handed out penitentiary sentences to no less than four different men.

Chester Mitchell, arrested at DuBois for indecent exposure, and who had entered a plea of guilty to the charge, was given a fine of one dollar and costs of prosecution and not less than twelve nor more than fifteen months in the penitentiary.

Edward Davis, also of DuBois, who pleaded guilty to seduction, was given $1 fine and not less than one nor more than two years in the penitentiary.

The lowing line in the Houtzdale region will no doubt be allowed to avoid their way homeward across the sea in peace and safety for the next year at least, as "Red" and "Barley" Heeman will be entertained by the grand old Keystone state in the penitentiary for at least one and not more than two years. In addition each Heeman will be required to pay $1.00 fine and costs.

Manville Johnson of Gearhartville, who was convicted of stealing two of his neighbor, Tom Heiden's chickens, was allowed to go on a suspended sentence, with the admonition from the court to cut chicken off his bill of fare these strenuous times. The old man solemnly promised to be good and left the court room rejoicing.

Joe Traver, a crippled jack dealer, who was convicted of the receiving of stolen goods, the goods in question being brass paraphernalia from the R. & P. railroad company at DuBois, was allowed to enter into his own recognizance in the sum of $200 for his appearance in the court at December court. He was advised by Judge Bell to quit the jack business, as the earnings of the Clearfield county courts with jack dealers led only to the fact that the average jack dealer walked at petty larceny when there was a dollar in sight.

Joe Williams, the North Carolina negro who entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree on Monday last, was called up for sentence at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and was given not less than twelve nor more than eighteen years in the western penitentiary at Pottsville.

Williams shot and killed James Dixon, another negro, at Woodland on Sunday, July 8th, while playing football. Clarence Booser, another negro, who was with Williams at the time he pulled the trigger.

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 20

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 23 GETTING AHEAD IN THE ARMY

Since regimental and company officers have full responsibility for the efficiency of their teams they are given corresponding authority in promoting men from the ranks to positions as noncommissioned officers. For all practical purposes their judgment as to the men under them is regarded as final.

One point as to which you may feel assured is the earnest desire of every officer to give promotion to the men who are best qualified—in other words to select the men who have cultivated the soldierly qualities and in addition show capacity for further development and for leadership. The officers are fully as much interested in promoting men on the basis of merit as any of the men are interested in securing promotion. For the officers' now burdens are lightened and their success is increased almost in direct proportion to their ability to promote the right men.

Chances for Promotion
The first rank above private is corporal. The corporal should be a real leader. He is expected to be more familiar with the various manuals and regulations and with the duties of the men in the squad than are the men themselves. He is expected also to use his influence strongly toward building up soldierly qualities among these men.

Among the qualifications which all noncommissioned officers should possess the following have been selected by one military writer as being of the first importance:

1. Proficiency as guides in close-order drills and particularly as column leaders in route marching.
2. Aggressive leadership, especially in drilling, marching, and fighting.
3. Ability to act as instructors.
4. Thorough knowledge of interior guard duty.
5. Skill in range finding and in estimating distance so as to assist men in firing accurately.
6. Ability to prepare written messages that are clear, complete and concise.
7. Ability to sketch and read maps.

This list will suggest some of the lines along which you should work, whenever you have the chance. Many of the noncommissioned officers in the National Army will be chosen, not only because of the knowledge or skill they already possess, but also because they show capacity for further development and for leadership.

Developing Soldierly Qualities
This question of winning promotion all comes back to the question of making yourself a thorough soldier, of demonstrating that you possess loyalty, disciplined obedience, physical fitness, intelligence, cleanliness, cheerfulness, spirit, tenacity and self-reliance—the nine qualities of a soldier.

The National Army must fit itself for effective service at the front in the shortest possible time. To accomplish this result it must produce out of its own ranks men who are fitted for promotion first to places as noncommissioned officers either in the first contingent or more probably in later contingents.

This need is your opportunity. It is an opportunity not merely for personal advancement—which in time of war is a small thing to work for—but more than that an opportunity to render to your country the most effective service of which you are capable.

Strive to fit yourself for the duties and responsibilities of leadership. Make yourself count to the utmost in the victorious defense of American rights and principles to which the National Army will devote itself.

Two Million Men In Arms By June Is Plan of War Department

Report Filed With Congress As a Public Paper Reveals Gigantic War Plans of Nation

Washington, Sept. 7.—Two million men in trenches and training camps by June 30, is the plan of the war department.

Another draft for 500,000 men during the winter is planned. This became known today in a statement by Secretary Baker and experts advising the House Appropriations Committee which was printed as a public document. By October 10, there will be 1,500,000 men under arms.

If there is sufficient equipment and accommodations Secretary Baker will recommend a second draft soon. The War department estimates accepted by Secretary Baker are made under the assumption that the President will issue a call.

Automobiles: The Root Of All Modern Evils

A Little Frenzied Finance And Legal Intricacies Involved

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the average Knox township resident can give the heathen Chinese cards and spades and then sweep the deck, if the revelations concerning an automobile deal in which two or three Knox township citizens got themselves mixed up recently can be believed. The case in question bids fair to have an airing or two in court before the end is reached and we will then no doubt get the whole story with all its trimmings.

The tale has its beginning when Russell Zimmerman and his wife, of near Houtzdale, well known to Clearfield merchants, came to town in May last and purchased a "two-handed" automobile at one of the local garages. In payment therefor, they gave the automobile dealer a note for $400, with the woman, who was the property owner of the combination, as endorser. The latter had Knox township affiliations and a few weeks ago one R. W. Rea of Boardman, appeared at the court house and entered of record in the Prothonotary's office a note for $1000 made by Mrs. Zimmerman in his favor and bearing date of December 23d, 1916. This note of course antedated the note given for the automobile by several months and as the property owned by the woman was valued at less than the amount of the Rea note, the automobile dealer quite naturally was of the opinion that the only value or advantage he would receive from his note was purely educational. But not so; not so. The plot thickens.

The Clearfield automobile was traded for another one and several weeks ago the second machine was sold to R. W. Rea, of Boardman, an uncle of Mrs. Zimmerman, by Russell Zimmerman, her husband. Then followed the episode of the stealing of the magneta pin for which alleged crime Zimmerman was arrested by Rea and is now in jail awaiting trial.

When some people fall out honest men get their just deserts, has long been noted in polite society, and it appears to be working out in this case. Confinement in Fort McCloskey became more or less tiresome to Zimmerman and he longed for liberty and the pursuit of happiness in the vicinity of his accustomed haunts, where he previously found such good pickings. The longer he stayed, the more incensed he became at Rea and finally began to let a few little side remarks fall about automobile deals in general and the first mentioned one in which the two notes figured in particular.

Zimmerman was given a hearing before "Squire Chorpensing on Tuesday and following this Mrs. Zimmerman visited a lawyer's office and made a statement under oath to the effect that the Rea note, which was dated December 23 1916, was really made in June 1917 and dated previous to the note given for the automobile and was part of an arrangement between herself and Rea for the purpose of protecting her property and making it impossible for the automobile dealer to get his pay for his machine. That she did not owe Rea one thousand dollars or any part thereof.

Liveright & Krebs, representing the dealer, made a motion Thursday to open the judgment and Judge Bell made an order granting a rule on Rea to show cause why the same should not be opened and that deemed second handed automobile may get more people in jail yet.

A REMARKABLE GIFT

Mrs. Barbara Leitzinger presented each one of the drafted men that left this evening with a hand knitted wash cloth, which she knitted herself. Mrs. Leitzinger is eighty-four years old and certainly showed splendid patriotism by this kind act.

DOLLAR DAY WAS A WONDERFUL SUCCESS

Thousands of People Kept Shopping of City on the Hum from Early Morning Until Late

BUSY BUYING BIG BARGAINS

Dollar Day is a hummer. The streets this morning had the appearance of a Saturday evening. A stream of shoppers started to pour into the business section of the city before the opening time and as the day grew older the number of shoppers was augmented until at times it was difficult for the clerks to take care of the trade although nearly all the stores had engaged extra help to take care of their trade.

Judging from the number of bundles being carried away by the shoppers it was evident that they were finding the bargains they were looking for. Before nine o'clock this morning many were seen who could hardly stand up under the stress of their load. Many women brought children along for the purpose of having them carry their bundles.

People love a bargain regardless of their station or vocation in life. There are few families in Clearfield this evening who have not taken advantage of Dollar Day, the great modern merchandising institution which is made possible by the co-operation of the merchants with the newspapers. And again it is only another example of the pulling power of newspaper advertising.

Without the newspaper such a thing would be impossible for merchant or consumer. We all remember the store of years ago. Half the stock was shelf worn and ragged. Everything was cheaper than of course but seldom was the consumer given the advantage of buying these shelf worn articles at their true worth. Dollar Day makes it possible for the merchants to turn over his stock, move his old stock (sometimes at a sacrifice but to the benefit of the consumer) and the benefits accruing to the consumer can only be judged by the degree in which they take advantage of the offerings and a glance at the bundle laden crowds is sufficient to prove what the consumer thinks of the Dollar Day proposition.

One big store of Clearfield actually had to close its doors at 9:30 this morning until they had waited on the crowds which thronged its aisles. A representative of The Progress was roundly cussed by another merchant for bringing so many people to his store that he had to get down from his office stool and start in to wait on the trade himself. Tonight it will all be over for another year but the success of this year which has been bigger and greater than the past two years is a guarantee to the people of the shopping district of Clearfield that Dollar Day is here to stay.

Everything was cheaper then of course but seldom was the consumer given the advantage of buying these shelf worn articles at their true worth. Dollar Day makes it possible for the merchants to turn over his stock, move his old stock (sometimes at a sacrifice but to the benefit of the consumer) and the benefits accruing to the consumer can only be judged by the degree in which they take advantage of the offerings and a glance at the bundle laden crowds is sufficient to prove what the consumer thinks of the Dollar Day proposition.

One big store of Clearfield actually had to close its doors at 9:30 this morning until they had waited on the crowds which thronged its aisles. A representative of The Progress was roundly cussed by another merchant for bringing so many people to his store that he had to get down from his office stool and start in to wait on the trade himself. Tonight it will all be over for another year but the success of this year which has been bigger and greater than the past two years is a guarantee to the people of the shopping district of Clearfield that Dollar Day is here to stay.

THE FIRST FIVE PER CENT

The selected men who leave today for training camps are to be envied. Their places in the first contingent of the drafted would be taken gladly by men who realize to the full the honor attaching to the first 5 per cent men who register. They are not free to join the forces off to fight until the President terms "the final battle for the independence of the United States."

It is no mistake. The man who looks on the enforced service as a hardship is rare. The others may not depart with unclouded conduct may denote cheerful but quiet resignation. But that determination comes of a full understanding of the size and meaning of the war. Men not suspected of ability to stomach the ordeal of the march have surprised their friends with flashes of insight and readiness to fight, if need be, and some with wives and children have counted them no bar to duty in a cause like this. Those who have looked for discontent among the chosen men have looked almost in vain.

On the day of departure there is little to be said. Any more words for the personal comfort and health of the men would only read the information issued from time to time about the camps to be reassured. There will be no more of 1893. The fact is, should peace come before they have seen action they will be returned home with improved physique and with a better understanding.

Other volunteers will be leaving frequently after today. Their day will soon wear off. A hearty Godspeed to all who go in every group, but particularly to those who go today. To be in the vanguard of the National Guard is something for a man and his kin to be proud of always.

The difference between a conscript and a volunteer is made in the way of training and in a few short months will be made together in the crucible of intensive training and healthy and spirit the New National Army will be a part with the U. S. Regulars. The drafted man is not less brave and just as noble as the volunteer because when he sees the situation as the volunteer sees it, he is to all intents and purposes a volunteer.

The chosen men who leave today will have a place in the future. On their return they will be accorded the respect and attention which always is accorded to patriots. We will have escaped the draft, will stand at attention and render full homage to those men in the years to come and when we will then wish that it might have been we who were called to go.

DUMDUMS

There are times when the editor would love to say just what he thinks of things, but he must throw the reins on his tongue for ever many of them in preference to becoming a laughing stock.

We have a Clear Field and a Fair Grounds. What more do we need to have a hang-up County Fair? Only the active cooperation of Mr. Farmer in whose name the yearly exhibition is staged.

Girl Lights Fire With Kerosene: Meets Death

Indiana County Miss of Fourteen Terribly Burned By Blaze

Harriet, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McIntyre, of Jonesburg, Pa., died Wednesday morning in the Indian hospital of burns received from a fire.

The girl had kindled a fire in the kitchen stove and in an effort to extinguish it was pouring oil from a can on the flames. The oil exploded, blowing the bottom from the can and covering the burning girl over her clothes. She screamed and her father and mother rushed to her aid. As they reached the kitchen she darted out of the door and into the car.

den, where she fell. In a desperate effort to tear the burning clothes from her body the father and brother were badly burned about the hands and forearms. With the help of T. A. Furness, of Punxsutawney, who was nearby, they carried her into the house and summoned Dr. Luchart of Rosetten. After first aid treatment had been given to her, Mr. Furness took her to the Indian hospital where she died.

She is survived by her parents, four brothers and four sisters. The family resided at Reynoldsville. The funeral will be held at the home in Jonesburg, Pa., Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body will be brought to Punxsutawney and taken to Reynoldsville by special train. Burial will be made in the Reynoldsville cemetery.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

Alas! it's very, very sad!
My news for fat folks is so bad!
Like pencils they must be by Fall.
Or they'll not make their mark at all.

New York, Sept. 7.—Have you a little budge in your bodice? Are you just a bit lumpy as to lines?—if so, you'd better hasten busily or you can not hope to cut a fashionable figure this autumn and wintertime. It's the straight and narrow for yours and a curve is a crime.

If you want to be sure of a perfectly correct model just take a lead pencil and copy its fine points.

Skirts are to be narrower and shorter, too, in spite of the mad effort to pull them down a bit. Even the pockets that have flouted their fascinations and had us on the hip for so long a time are to be sacrificed on the altar of straight lines and incidentally the scarcity of material.

Shorn of our pockets we will no doubt have to go back to the ancient custom of carrying our bank rolls, family jewels and powder puffs in garters. Alas! I fear me some such cached treasures will break the symmetry of the outline. There are a few of us however who need have no worry over the spoiling of our contour by such a means.

Collars are to be high and closely buttoned up around our chin or chins. Sleeves will be tight and long even to the knuckle line.

It is quite true fashion was knocking to something and it might as well be sleeves. One comfort about these long arm coverings is that if you have anything up our sleeves it will be so much easier to get it practically at our finger tips as "twere."

The new black charmeuse one piece frock for fall that is quite the model gown of the moment and the mode shows all the new pencil points of short narrow skirt, long tight sleeve, high close collar and straight lined bodice. You can't help taking a shine to it's shiny lengths and if you top it with one of the little close fitting hats of taupe felt or velvet you'll resemble to a nice new lead pencil with an eraser on the end will make everybody rubber.

We will have to be forbearing again as well as forbearing this year. Just to prove that little squirrels had must better stick to their pedal extremities when it comes to a means of locomotion instead of trying to fly is evidenced by the lavish use of flying squirrels fur on many of the smartest fur coats, winter suits and cloth coats.

Quantities of grey squirrel as bandings and collars and cuffs, however, show that he who rung doesn't always get away with it either.

Since, next to black, grey is to be the favorite color scheme for the sombre grey days of a wartime Fall and winter it is plausible that the grey furs should be to the fore and the rear and all around for that matter.

Chinchilla is of course rare and very expensive and therefore much to be desired but for an understudy the Australian opossum or nutria does beautifully and will be much in evidence either in all over coats mostly for motor or country wear, or in combination with other furs. Hudson seal and the nutria makes a new and decidedly smart combination while the Hudson seal coats collared anduffed squirrel are very rich.

The use of two furs together as also the use of two materials or a fur and a material will be one of the features of the Autumn modes.

There is a striking Chinese tendency again and the exquisite and gorgeous Chinese embroideries will embellish and enliven many an otherwise austere tinted frock of drab black or platinum grey Chinese skirts with the panels front and back will be copied for their straight line tendencies. The round Chinese neck line will be seen on many of the Coolie blouse effects and the hoof cuff that is a feature of the Mandarin robes will now fall over our fair hands. When you sift the debris of this hoof shaped cuff down to the tradition that every one approaching the august presence of the emperor had to do so on the level of a beast and that the Mandarins crawled in on all fours had the cuffs of their ceremonial robes shaped like a hoof in order to make the beast attachment more complete. I am inclined to be a bit mischievous about adopting this Chinese cuff. When it comes to hoofing it less kick.

By Russell

Minneapolis, Sept. 6.—Charles Edward Russell, member of the American mission to Russia and a delegate to the loyalty conference of the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, in a formal statement to the convention today declared the interest of the Russian people in the war had been undermined by the activities of certain members of congress and pro-German and pacifist organizations.

The statement followed the reading of scores of telegrams from labor leaders in all parts of the country denouncing pacifists and pledging support to the movement undertaken by the alliance to solidify labor in the successful prosecution of the war.

"Riga was captured by United States Senators, LaFollette, Gronna and Stone," Mr. Russell asserted. "When the kaiser gives out the declaration of victory he should give full credit to these three."

CLOSE BLINDS IN BRUSSELS
AS KAISER PASSES THROUGH

London, Sept. 6.—It is related by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company that when Emperor William visited Brussels last week on his way to the Flanders front the populace refused to comply with a request of the authorities to display flags. Instead they remained indoors and drew the window blinds, on which they inscribed:

"Closed for national mourning."

The streets were deserted except for the soldiers and police.

GERMAN NAVY TO ATTACK RUSSIA

German warships are reported at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, and also in the Gulf of Riga, and it is supposed that the Kaiser's Baltic fleet is about to make a determined attack on the Russian naval bases, Kronstadt and Revel.

Taken in connection with the continued retreat of the Russian armies beyond Riga, the presence of hostile naval forces raises a new menace to the successful extrication of the defeated Russian troops from a virtual cul de sac.

Driving Motor Vehicle While Intoxicated Costly Game in Clearfield Co.

A real dyed-in-the-wool Smart Alec was before Judge Bell this week in a one round bout in which the court came out a decided winner without turning a hair. Alec's other name was Joe Marzainko or "Dietz" and he hailed from Winburne. He managed some time ago to become possessed of a Ford and since that time has had the entire population of Cooper, Morris and the adjoining townships dodging across the roads and byways in fear of their lives.

He told that Joe or "Alec" had his machine with gasoline tank and self with benzine or some ill smelling deodoration and sailed onto the township road would ate mile after mile at a 40 mile an hour rate. With his hair sticking straight behind him and the machine loped in a colud of dust me am swiftly through the countryside. The natives tied their children to the arches and had alarm bells erected along the road with notice to all to send out a warning signal when the death-defying speed maniac approached.

The township authorities were appealed to a number of times and the township constable took Alec to task several times. Finally when forbearance ceased to be a virtue and in the interest of the public welfare Marzainko was returned to court for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was convicted of the charge and when called for sentence was given a talking to by Judge Bell on the subject of safe, sane and conservative motor driving that would have profited many another reckless driver. After delivering his broadside of sound advice Judge Bell decided that Marzainko needed time to study the matter over and accordingly gave him a sentence calling for a six months residence at the county jail, and the people down Winburne way are now crossing the public highways without so much fear and trembling.

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps us looking and feeling fit.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Officers' Reserve Training Camp, Chattanooga, Tenn.
Editor Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Editor:

We Pennsylvania boys are getting along nicely here at the Officers' Reserve Training Camp, at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

There are over 1298 candidates here from central and western Pennsylvania, or 6000 in all. I have met several boys from Altoona and Tyrone.

Every minute of our time is taken up with drill and study, from 5 a. m. to 6 p. m. The government has erected a sanitary camp and prepared everything that money can buy for comfort and entertainment. All the windows and doors are screened and it is hard to find a fly. The food is of the very best, twice as good as the regular army ration. There is an average of over 1000 letters written every day at the Army Y. M. C. A. They have movies and entertainments for us.

We are drilling and watching every day shoulder to shoulder alongside of our Southern officers from Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida and North and South Carolina on the famous battlefield of Chickamauga.

A crowd of we Pennsylvania boys visited Chattanooga in Tennessee and Lookout Mountain, where the famous "battle above the clouds" was fought. We could see into seven different states.

I like the southern country and the people and their hospitality which is much better than it was during the Spanish-American war in 1898.

Our barracks are built near the same place where E. Co. of the 5 Pa. was encamped.

Yours sincerely,

A real dyed-in-the-wool Smart Alec was before Judge Bell this week in a one round bout in which the court came out a decided winner without turning a hair. Alec's other name was Joe Marzainko or "Dietz" and he hailed from Winburne. He managed some time ago to become possessed of a Ford and since that time has had the entire population of Cooper, Morris and the adjoining townships dodging across the roads and byways of their lives.

He told that Joe or "Alec" had his machine with gasoline itself with benzine or some ill smelling concoction and sailed onto the township road would take him after mile at a 40 mile an hour rate.

With his hair sticking straight behind him and the machine loped in a cloud of dust he amped swiftly through the countryside. The natives tied their children to the arches and had alarm bells erected along the road with notice to all to send out a warning signal when the death-defying speed maniac approached.

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps us looking and feeling fit.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quickly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

SHE HAS SENT SEVEN SONS TO THE WAR

Mrs. William J. Tisdall, a widow of 1125 Garden street, Hoboken, that New Jersey headquarters of pro-German activity, may hold the record in that she has sent seven sons to the war. They are in the British, Canadian and American armies. They are: Henry William Tisdall, thirty-eight years old; John Tisdall, thirty-four; Mark A. Tisdall, thirty-two; William Tisdall, thirty; Edward Tisdall, twenty-eight; Victor Tisdall, twenty-five; and Travers Tisdall, twenty-three.

Henry Tisdall is now serving in the British army, Edward is with the Canadians, and Victor is in England with the Scots. Canadians. Mark is also a member of a British regiment. Travers is a member of Company A of the Eleventh Regiment of Engineers in the American army. John and William are also with the American forces.

COURT NOTES

Today was "Black Friday" for four or five malefactors who had entered pleas of guilty or been convicted this week of various infractions of the Pennsylvania statutes. Before he had disposed of the tough looking bunch of misfits which faced him at 11:30 Judge Bell handed out penitentiary sentences to no less than four different men.

Chester Mitchell, arrested at DuBois for indecent exposure, and who had entered a plea of guilty to the charge, was given a fine of one dollar and costs of prosecution and not less than twelve nor more than fifteen months in the penitentiary.

Edward Davis, also of DuBois, who pleaded guilty to seduction, was given $1 fine and not less than one nor more than two years in the penitentiary.

The lowing line in the Houtzdale region will no doubt be allowed to avoid their way homeward across the sea in peace and safety for the next year at least, as "Red" and "Barley" Heeman will be entertained by the grand old Keystone state in the penitentiary for at least one and not more than two years. In addition each Heeman will be required to pay $1.00 fine and costs.

Manville Johnson of Gearhartville, who was convicted of stealing two of his neighbor, Tom Heiden's chickens, was allowed to go on a suspended sentence, with the admonition from the court to cut chicken off his bill of fare these strenuous times. The old man solemnly promised to be good and left the court room rejoicing.

Joe Traver, a crippled jack dealer, who was convicted of the receiving of stolen goods, the goods in question being brass parafines from the R. R. & P. railroad company at DuBois, was allowed to enter into his own recognizance in the sum of $200 for his appearance in the court of common pleas at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was given not less than twelve nor more than eighteen years in the western penitentiary at Pottsville.

Williams shot and killed Jimmy Dixon, another negro, at Woodland on Sunday, July 8th, while playing football. Clarence Booser, another negro, who was with him at the time, was also shot.

Joe Williams, the North Carolina negro who entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree on Monday last, was called up for sentence at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was given not less than twelve nor more than eighteen years in the western penitentiary at Pottsville.

Williams shot and killed Jimmy Dixon, another negro, at Woodland on Sunday, July 8th, while playing football. Clarence Booser, another negro, who was with him at the time, was also shot.

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 20

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 23 GETTING AHEAD IN THE ARMY

Since regimental and company officers have full responsibility for the efficiency of their teams they are given corresponding authority in promoting men from the ranks to positions as noncommissioned officers. For all practical purposes their judgment as to the men under them is regarded as final.

One point as to which you may feel assured is the earnest desire of every officer to give promotion to the men who are best qualified—in other words to select the men who have cultivated the soldierly qualities and in addition show capacity for further development and for leadership. The officers are fully as much interested in promoting men on the basis of merit as any of the men are interested in securing promotion. For the officers' now burdens are lightened and their success is increased almost in direct proportion to their ability to promote the right men.

Chances for Promotion
The first rank above private is corporal. The corporal should be a real leader. He is expected to be more familiar with the various manuals and regulations and with the duties of the men in the squad than are the men themselves. He is expected also to use his influence strongly toward building up soldierly qualities among these men.

Among the qualifications which all noncommissioned officers should possess the following have been selected by one military writer as being of the first importance:

1. Proficiency as guides in close-order drills and particularly as column leaders in route marching.
2. Aggressive leadership, especially in drilling, marching, and fighting.
3. Ability to act as instructors.
4. Thorough knowledge of interior guard duty.
5. Skill in range finding and in estimating distance so as to assist men in firing accurately.
6. Ability to prepare written messages that are clear, complete and concise.
7. Ability to sketch and read maps.

This list will suggest some of the lines along which you should work, whenever you have the chance. Many of the noncommissioned officers in the National Army will be chosen, not only because of the knowledge or skill they already possess, but also because they show capacity for further development and for leadership.

Developing Soldierly Qualities
This question of winning promotion all comes back to the question of making yourself a thorough soldier, of demonstrating that you possess loyalty, disciplined obedience, physical fitness, intelligence, cleanliness, cheerfulness, spirit, tenacity and self-reliance—the nine qualities of a soldier.

The National Army must fit itself for effective service at the front in the shortest possible time. To accomplish this result it must produce out of its own ranks men who are fitted for promotion first to places as noncommissioned officers either in the first contingent or more probably in later contingents.

This need is your opportunity. It is an opportunity not merely for personal advancement—which in time of war is a small thing to work for—but more than that an opportunity to render to your country the most effective service of which you are capable. Strive to fit yourself for the duties and responsibilities of leadership. Make yourself count to the utmost in the victorious defense of American rights and principles to which the National Army will devote itself.

SNOW SHOE PASTOR DIES WHILE VISITING OCEAN GROVE

Rev. C. W. Barnley, pastor of the Methodist church at Snow Shoe, died at Ocean Grove the other day while on a brief visit to that well known resort. He was a native of Delaware county, and was born in 1841. He entered the ministry in 1871, but was not in the active work during all the interval. He preached on the Clearfield circuit in 1880.

Two Million Men In Arms By June Is Plan of War Department

Report Filed With Congress As a Public Paper Reveals Gigantic War Plans of Nation

Washington, Sept. 7.—Two million men in trenches and training camps by June 30, is the plan of the war department.

Another draft for 500,000 men during the winter is planned. This became known today in a statement by Secretary Baker and experts advising the House Appropriations Committee which was printed as a public document. By October 10, there will be 1,500,000 men under arms.

If there is sufficient equipment and accommodations Secretary Baker will recommend a second draft soon. The War department estimates accepted by Secretary Baker are made under the assumption that the President will issue a call.

Automobiles: The Root Of All Modern Evils

A Little Frenzied Finance And Legal Intricacies Involved

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the average Knox township resident can give the heathen Chinese cards and spades and then sweep the deck, if the revelations concerning an automobile deal in which two or three Knox township citizens got themselves mixed up recently can be believed. The case in question bids fair to have an airing or two in court before the end is reached and we will then no doubt get the whole story with all its trimmings.

The tale has its beginning when Russell Zimmerman and his wife, of near Houtzdale, well known to Clearfield merchants, came to town in May last and purchased a "two-handed" automobile at one of the local garages. In payment therefor, they gave the automobile dealer a note for $400, with the woman, who was the property owner of the combination, as endorser. The latter had Knox township affiliations and a few weeks ago one R. W. Rea of Boardman, appeared at the court house and entered of record in the Prothonotary's office a note for $1000 made by Mrs. Zimmerman in his favor and bearing date of December 23d, 1916. This note of course antedated the note given for the automobile by several months and as the property owned by the woman was valued at less than the amount of the Rea note, the automobile dealer quite naturally was of the opinion that the only value or advantage he would receive from his note was purely educational. But not so; not so. The plot thickens.

The Clearfield automobile was traded for another one and several weeks ago the second machine was sold to R. W. Rea, of Boardman, an uncle of Mrs. Zimmerman, by Russell Zimmerman, her husband. Then followed the episode of the stealing of the magneta pin for which alleged crime Zimmerman was arrested by Rea and is now in jail awaiting trial.

When some people fall out honest men get their just deserts, has long been noted in polite society, and it appears to be working out in this case. Confinement in Fort McCloskey became more or less tiresome to Zimmerman and he longed for liberty and the pursuit of happiness in the vicinity of his accustomed haunts, where he previously found such good pickings. The longer he stayed, the more incensed he became at Rea and finally began to let a few little side remarks fall about automobile deals in general and the first mentioned one in which the two notes figured in particular.

Zimmerman was given a hearing before Squire Chorprenon on Tuesday and following this Mrs. Zimmerman visited a lawyer's office and made a statement under oath to the effect that the Rea note, which was dated December 23 1916, was really made in June 1917 and dated previous to the note given for the automobile and was part of an arrangement between herself and Rea for the purpose of protecting her property and making it impossible for the automobile dealer to get his pay for his machine. That she did not owe Rea one thousand dollars or any part thereof.

Liveright & Krebs, representing the dealer, made a motion Thursday to open the judgment and Judge Bell made an order granting a rule on Rea to show cause why the same should not be opened and that deemed second handed automobile may get more people in jail yet.

DOLLAR DAY WAS A WONDERFUL SUCCESS

Thousands of People Kept Shopping of City on the Hum from Early Morning Until Late

BUSY BUYING BIG BARGAINS

Dollar Day is a hummer. The streets this morning had the appearance of a Saturday evening. The stream of shoppers started to pour into the business section of the city before the opening time and as the day grew older the number of shoppers was augmented until at times it was difficult for the clerks to take care of the trade although nearly all the stores had engaged extra help to take care of their trade.

Judging from the number of bundles being carried away by the shoppers it was evident that they were finding the bargains they were looking for. Before nine o'clock this morning many were seen who could hardly stand up under the stress of their load. Many women brought children along for the purpose of having them carry their bundles.

People love a bargain regardless of their station or vocation in life. There are few families in Clearfield this evening who have not taken advantage of Dollar Day, the great modern merchandising institution which is made possible by the co-operation of the merchants with the newspapers. And again it is only another example of the pulling power of newspaper advertising. Without the newspaper such a thing would be impossible for merchant or consumer. We all remember the store of years ago. Half the stock was shelf worn and ragged. Everything was cheaper than of course but seldom was the consumer given the advantage of buying these shelf worn articles at their true worth. Dollar Day makes it possible for the merchants to turn over his stock, move his old stock (sometimes at a sacrifice but to the benefit of the consumer) and the benefits accruing to the consumer can only be judged by the degree in which they take advantage of the offerings and a glance at the bundle laden crowds is sufficient to prove what the consumer thinks of the Dollar Day proposition.

One big store of Clearfield actually had to close its doors at 9:30 this morning until they had waited on the crowds which thronged its aisles. A representative of The Progress was roundly cussed by another merchant for bringing so many people to his store that he had to get down from his office stool and start in to wait on the trade himself. Tonight it will all be over for another year but the success of this year which has been bigger and greater than the past two years is a guarantee to the people of the shopping district of Clearfield that Dollar Day is here to stay.

Henry Tisdall is now serving in the British army, Edward is with the Canadians, and Victor is in England with the Scots. Canadians. Mark is also a member of a British regiment. COURT NOTES

Today was "Black Friday" for four or five malefactors who had entered pleas of guilty or been convicted this week of various infractions of the Pennsylvania statutes. Before he had disposed of the tough looking bunch of misfits which faced him at 11:30 Judge Bell handed out penitentiary sentences to no less than four different men.

Chester Mitchell, arrested at DuBois for indecent exposure, and who had entered a plea of guilty to the charge, was given a fine of one dollar and costs of prosecution and not less than twelve nor more than fifteen months in the penitentiary.

Edward Davis, also of DuBois, who pleaded guilty to solicitation, was given $1 fine and not less than one nor more than two years in the penitentiary.

The lowering line in the Houtzdale region will no doubt be allowed to avoid their way homeward across the sea in peace and safety for the next year at least, as "Hob" and "Barley" Heeman will be entertained by the grand old Keystone state in the penitentiary for at least one and not more than two years. In addition each Heeman will be required to pay $100 fine and costs.

Manville Johnson of Garhartville, who was convicted of shooting two of his neighbors, Tom Heiden's chickens, was allowed to go on a suspended sentence, with the admonition from the court to cut chicken off his bill of fare these strenuous times. The old man solemnly promised to be good and left the court room smiling.

Joe Traver, a crippled Jack dealer, who was convicted of the receipt of stolen goods, the goods in question being brass parolons from the R. F. & P. railroad company at DuBois, was allowed to enter into his own bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at December court. He was advised by Judge Bell to quit the junk business, as the experience of the Clearfield county courts with Jack dealers led one to the belief that the average Jack dealer worked at petty larceny when their was a dollar in sight.

Joe Williams, the North Carolina negro who entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree on Monday last, was called up for sentence at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and was given not less than twelve nor more than eighteen years in the modern penitentiary at Pittsburgh.

Williams shot and killed James Dixon, another negro, at Woodland on Sunday, July 8th, while quarreling. Clarence Booser, another negro, who when he had a dispute over fifty cents

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 20

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 23 GETTING AHEAD IN THE ARMY

Since regimental and company officers have full responsibility for the efficiency of their teams they are given corresponding authority in promoting men from the ranks to positions as noncommissioned officers. For all practical purposes their judgment as to the men under them is regarded as final.

One point as to which you may feel assured is the earnest desire of every officer to give promotion to the men who are best qualified—in other words to select the men who have cultivated the soldierly qualities and in addition show capacity for further development and for leadership. The officers are fully as much interested in promoting men on the basis of merit as any of the men are interested in securing promotion. For the officers' new burdens are lightened and their success is increased almost in direct proportion to their ability to promote the right men.

Chances for Promotion
The first rank above private is corporal. The corporal should be a real leader. He is expected to be more familiar with the various manuals and regulations and with the duties of the men in the squad than are the men themselves. He is expected also to use his influence strongly toward building up soldierly qualities among these men.

Among the qualifications which all noncommissioned officers should possess the following have been selected by one military writer as being of the first importance:

1. Proficiency as guides in close-order drills and particularly as column leaders in route marching.
2. Aggressive leadership, especially in drilling, marching, and fighting.
3. Ability to act as instructors.
4. Thorough knowledge of interior guard duty.
5. Skill in range finding and in estimating distance so as to assist men in firing accurately.
6. Proficiency in leading patrols.
7. Ability to prepare written messages that are clear, complete and concise.
8. Ability to sketch and read maps.

This list will suggest some of the lines along which you should work, whenever you have the chance. Many of the noncommissioned officers in the National Army will be chosen, not only because of the knowledge or skill they already possess, but also because they show capacity for further development and for leadership.

Developing Soldierly Qualities
This question of winning promotion all comes back to the question of making yourself a thorough soldier, of demonstrating that you possess loyalty, disciplined obedience, physical fitness, intelligence, cleanliness, cheerfulness, spirit, tenacity and self-reliance—the nine qualities of a soldier.

The National Army must fit itself for effective service at the front in the shortest possible time. To accomplish this result it must produce out of its own ranks men who are fitted for promotion first to places as noncommissioned officers either in the first contingent or more probably in later contingents.

This need is your opportunity. It is an opportunity not merely for personal advancement—which in time of war is a small thing to work for—but more than that an opportunity to render to your country the most effective service of which you are capable. Strive to fit yourself for the duties and responsibilities of leadership. Make yourself count to the utmost in the victorious defense of American rights and principles to which the National Army will devote itself.

Two Million Men In Arms By June June Is Plan of War Department

Report Filed With Congress As a Public Paper Reveals Gigantic War Plans of Nation

Washington, Sept. 7.—Two million men in trenches and training camps by June 30, is the plan of the war department.

Another draft for 500,000 men during the winter is planned. This became known today in a statement by Secretary Baker and experts advising the House Appropriations Committee which was printed as a public document. By October 10, there will be 1,500,000 men under arms.

If there is sufficient equipment and accommodations Secretary Baker will recommend a second draft soon. The War department estimates accepted by Secretary Baker are made under the assumption that the President will issue a call.

Automobiles: The Root Of All Modern Evils

A Little Frenzied Finance And Legal Intricacies Involved

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the average Knox township resident can give the heathen Chinese cards and spades and then sweep the deck, if the revelations concerning an automobile deal in which two or three Knox township citizens got themselves mixed up recently can be believed. THE FIRST FIVE PER CENT

The selected men who leave today for training camps are to be envied. Their places in the first contingent of the drafted would be taken gladly by men who realize to the full the honor attaching to the first 5 per cent men who register. They are not free to join the forces off to fight until the President terms "the final battle for the independence of the United States."

It is no mistake. The man who looks on the enforced service as a hardship is rare. The others may not depart with unclouded conduct may denote cheerful but quiet resignation. But that determination comes of a full understanding of the size and meaning of the war. Men not suspected of ability to stomach the ordeal of the march have surprised their friends with flashes of insight and readiness to fight, if need be, and some with wives and children have counted them no bar to duty in a cause like this. Those who have looked for discontent among the chosen men have looked almost in vain.

On the day of departure there is little to be said. Any more words for the personal comfort and health of the men would only read the information issued from time to time about the camps to be reassured. There will be no more of 1893. The fact is, should peace come before they have seen action they will be returned home with improved physique and with a better understanding.

Other volunteers will be leaving frequently after today. Their day will soon wear off. A hearty Godspeed to all who go in every group, but particularly to those who go today. To be in the vanguard of the National Guard is something for a man and his kin to be proud of always.

The difference between a conscript and a volunteer is made up of training and in a few short months will be made up of the crucible of intensive training and healthy and spirit the New National Army will be a par with the U. S. Regulars. The drafted man is not unvaluable, just as brave and just as noble as the volunteer because when he sees the situation as the volunteer sees it, he is to all intents and purposes a volunteer.

The chosen men who leave today will have a place in the future. On their return they will be accorded the respect and attention which always is accorded to patriots. We will have escaped the draft, will stand at attention and render full homage to those men in the years to come and when we will then wish that it might have been we who were called to go.

There are times when the editor would love to say just what he thinks of things, but he must throw the reins on his tongue over many of them in preference to becoming a laughing stock.

We have a Clear Field and a Fair Grounds. What more do we need to have a hang-up County Fair? Only the active cooperation of Mr. Farmer in whose name the yearly exhibition is staged.

Girl Lights Fire With Kerosene: Meets Death

Indiana County Miss of Fourteen Terribly Burned By Blaze

Harriet, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McIntyre, of Jonesburg, Pa., died at a Clearfield hospital of burns received when she set fire to her room.

The girl had kindled a fire in the bedroom stove and in an effort to extinguish it was pouring oil from a can on the flames. The oil exploded, blowing the bottom from the can and striking the girl in the face and chest. She screamed and her father rushed to her aid. As they reached the room she darted out of the door and into the car.

den, where she fell. In a desperate effort to tear the burning clothes from her body the father and brother were badly burned about the hands and forearms. With the help of T. A. Furness, of Punxsutawney, who was nearby, they carried her into the house and summoned Dr. Leckhart of Roshton. After first aid treatment had been given to her, Mr. Furness took her to the Adrian hospital, where she died.

She is survived by her parents, four brothers and four sisters. The family resided at Reynoldsville. Her mother is more than 60 years and her father is 65. Funeral services will be held at the home in Jonesburg, Pa., on Monday at 2 o'clock. The body will be brought to Punxsutawney and taken to Reynoldsville by special train. Burial will be made in the Reynoldsville cemetery.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

Alas! it's very, very sad!
My news for fat folks is so bad!
Like pencils they must be by Fall.
Or they'll not make their mark at all.

New York, Sept. 7.—Have you a little budge in your bodice? Are you just a bit lumpy as to lines?—if so, you'd better hasten busily or you can not hope to cut a fashionable figure this autumn and wintertime. It's the straight and narrow for yours and a curve is a crime.

If you want to be sure of a perfectly correct model just take a lead pencil and copy its fine points.

Skirts are to be narrower and shorter, too, in spite of the mad effort to pull them down a bit. Even the pockets that have flouted their fascinations and had us on the hip for so long a time are to be sacrificed on the altar of straight lines and incidentally the scarcity of material.

Shorn of our pockets we will no doubt have to go back to the ancient custom of carrying our bank rolls, family jewels and powder puffs in garters. Alas! I fear me some such cached treasures will break the symmetry of the outline. There are a few of us however who need have no worry over the spoiling of our contour by such a means.

Collars are to be high and closely buttoned up around our chin or chins. Sleeves will be tight and long even to the knuckle line.

It is quite true fashion was knocking to something and it might as well be sleeves. One comfort about these long arm coverings is that if you have anything up our sleeves it will be so much easier to get it practically at our finger tips as "twere."

The new black charmeuse one piece frock for fall that is quite the model gown of the moment and the mode shows all the new pencil points of short narrow skirt, long tight sleeve, high close collar and straight lined bodice. You can't help taking a shine to it's shiny lengths and if you top it with one of the little close fitting hats of taupe felt or velvet you'll resemble to a nice new lead pencil with an eraser on the end will make everybody rubber.

We will have to be forbearing again as well as forbearing this year. Just to prove that little squirrels had must better stick to their pedal extremities when it comes to a means of locomotion instead of trying to fly is evidenced by the lavish use of flying squirrels fur on many of the smartest fur coats, winter suits and cloth coats.

Quantities of grey squirrel as bandings and collars and cuffs, however, show that he who rung doesn't always get away with it either.

Since, next to black, grey is to be the favorite color scheme for the sombre grey days of a wartime Fall and winter it is plausible that the grey furs should be to the fore and the rear and all around for that matter.

Chinchilla is of course rare and very expensive and therefore much to be desired but for an understudy the Australian opossum or nutria does beautifully and will be much in evidence either in all over coats mostly for motor or country wear, or in combination with other furs. Hudson seal and the nutria makes a new and decidedly smart combination while the Hudson seal coats collared anduffed squirrel are very rich.

The use of two furs together as also the use of two materials or a fur and a material will be one of the features of the Autumn modes.

There is a striking Chinese tendency again and the exquisite and gorgeous Chinese embroideries will embellish and enliven many an otherwise austere tinted frock of drab black or platinum grey Chinese skirts with the panels front and back will be copied for their straight line tendencies. The round Chinese neck line will be seen on many of the Coolie blouse effects and the hoof cuff that is a feature of the Mandarin robes will now fall over our fair hands. When you sift the debris of this hoof shaped cuff down to the tradition that every one approaching the august presence of the emperor had to do so on the level of a beast and that the Mandarins crawled in on all fours had the cuffs of their ceremonial robes shaped like a hoof in order to make the beast attachment more complete. I am inclined to be a bit mischievous about adopting this Chinese cuff. When it comes to hoofing it less kick.

LABOR MEETING TOLDLa Follette, Stone And Gronna Assailed
By Russell

Minneapolis, Sept. 6.—Charles Edward Russell, member of the American mission to Russia and a delegate to the loyalty conference of the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, in a formal statement to the convention today declared the interest of the Russian people in the war had been undermined by the activities of certain members of congress and pro-German and pacifist organizations.

The statement followed the reading of scores of telegrams from labor leaders in all parts of the country denouncing pacifists and pledging support to the movement undertaken by the alliance to solidify labor in the successful prosecution of the war.

"Riga was captured by United States Senators, LaFollette, Gronna and Stone," Mr. Russell asserted. "When the kaiser gives out the declaration of victory he should give full credit to these three."

CLOSE BLINDS IN BRUSSELS
AS KAISER PASSES THROUGH

London, Sept. 6.—It is related by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company that when Emperor William visited Brussels last week on his way to the Flanders front the populace refused to comply with a request of the authorities to display flags. Instead they remained indoors and drew the window blinds, on which they inscribed:

"Closed for national mourning."

The streets were deserted except for the soldiers and police.

GERMAN NAVY TO ATTACK RUSSIA

German warships are reported at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, and also in the Gulf of Riga, and it is supposed that the Kaiser's Baltic fleet is about to make a determined attack on the Russian naval bases, Kronstadt and Revel.

Taken in connection with the continued retreat of the Russian armies beyond Riga, the presence of hostile naval forces raises a new menace to the successful extrication of the defeated Russian troops from a virtual cul de sac.

THE EVENING LEDGER will publish exclusively in Philadelphia Carl W. Ackerman's famous book, "Germany, The Next Republic."

For over two years prior to the breaking of diplomatic relations, Mr. Ackerman was the accredited representative of the United Press in Germany; he had exceptional facilities for learning the real facts about Germany; he was an eye-witness of the work of the German autocracy in the period immediately following the invasion of Belgium, and he can help you to a full understanding of why Germany hates America, and how important it is that democratic America help defeat autocratic Germany.

Will Think It Over For Next Six Months

Driving Motor Vehicle While Intoxicated Costly Game in Clearfield Co.

A real dyed-in-the-wool Smart Alec was before Judge Bell this week in a one round bout in which the court came out a decided winner without turning a hair. Alec's other name was Joe Marzainko or "Dietz" and he hailed from Winburne. He managed some time ago to become possessed of a Ford and since that time has had the entire population of Cooper, Morris and the adjoining townships dodging across the roads and byways in fear of their lives.

He told that Joe or "Alec" had his machine with gasoline tank and some of the township road would be a mile after mile at a 40 mile an hour. With his hair sticking straight up and he and the machine rolled in a cloud of dust he amped up the throttle and the natives tied their children to the wheels and had alarm bells erected along the road with notice to all to send out a warning signal when the death-defying speed maniac approached.

The township authorities were appealed to a number of times and the township constable took Alec to task several times. Finally when forbearance ceased to be a virtue and in the interest of the public welfare Marzainko was returned to court for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was convicted of the charge and when called for sentence was given a talking to by Judge Bell on the subject of safe, sane and conservative motor driving that would have profited many another reckless driver. After delivering his broadside of sound advice Judge Bell decided that Marzainko needed time to study the matter over and accordingly gave him a sentence calling for a six months residence at the county jail, and the people down Winburne way are now crossing the public highways without so much fear and trembling.

WORKERS NEEDED AT RED CROSS ROOMS

For the past ten days the Workroom committee of the Red Cross have been busily engaged in cutting out articles which are now ready for the making. JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps us looking and feeling fit.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Officers' Reserve Training Camp, Chattanooga, Tenn.
Editor Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Editor:

We Pennsylvania boys are getting along nicely here at the Officers' Reserve Training Camp, at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

There are over 1298 candidates here from central and western Pennsylvania, or 6000 in all. I have met several boys from Altoona and Tyrone.

Every minute of our time is taken up with drill and study, from 5 a. m. to 6 p. m. The government has erected a sanitary camp and prepared everything that money can buy for comfort and entertainment. All the windows and doors are screened and it is hard to find a fly. The food is of the very best, twice as good as the regular army ration. There is an average of over 1000 letters written every day at the Army Y. M. C. A. They have movies and entertainments for us.

We are drilling and watching every day shoulder to shoulder alongside of our Southern officers from Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida and North and South Carolina on the famous battlefield of Chickamauga.

A crowd of we Pennsylvania boys visited Chattanooga in Tennessee and Lookout Mountain, where the famous "battle above the clouds" was fought. We could see into seven different states.

I like the southern country and the people and their hospitality which is much better than it was during the Spanish-American war in 1898.

Our barracks are built near the same place where E. Co. of the 5 Pa. was encamped.

Yours sincerely,
CHARLES E. GRAFFIUS

The recruit came to this country 12 years ago from Scotland and for the past 20 years has worked as a coal miner. He will leave for Canada as soon as he arranges some personal affairs.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

WORKERS NEEDED AT RED CROSS ROOMS

For the past ten days the Workroom committee of the Red Cross have been busily engaged in cutting out articles which are now ready for the making. Hospital shirts and pajamas need busy fingers to fashion them. Four machines are ready for use. Will YOU give two hours at a time any afternoon of the week to this patriotic work?

The rooms are open from two until six p. m. and it is hoped the women of Clearfield will give an immediate response to this appeal for their assistance.

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps us looking and feeling fit.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quickly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Officers' Reserve Training Camp, Chattanooga, Tenn.
Editor Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.,
Dear Editor:

We Pennsylvania boys are getting along nicely here at the Officers' Reserve Training Camp, at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

There are over 1298 candidates here from central and western Pennsylvania, or 6000 in all. I have met several boys from Altoona and Tyrone.

Every minute of our time is taken up with drill and study, from 5 a. m. to 6 p. m. The government has erected a sanitary camp and prepared everything that money can buy for comfort and entertainment. All the windows and doors are screened and it is hard to find a fly. The food is of the very best, twice as good as the regular army ration. There is an average of over 1000 letters written every day at the Army Y. M. C. A. They have movies and entertainments for us.

We are drilling and watching every day shoulder to shoulder alongside of our Southern officers from Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida and North and South Carolina on the famous battlefield of Chickamauga.

A crowd of we Pennsylvania boys visited Chattanooga in Tennessee and Lookout Mountain, where the famous "battle above the clouds" was fought. We could see into seven different states.

I like the southern country and the people and their hospitality which is much better than it was during the Spanish-American war in 1898.

Our barracks are built near the same place where E. Co. of the 5 Pa. was camped.

Yours sincerely,
